

Fingerprint All Postal Workers To Foil Thieves

Postmaster Morgan Is First To Submit to New Order Designed to Clear Force of Men With Evil Record

Robbery Probe Continues

Pay Basis To Be Shifted to Induce Clerks to Try for Registry Division Berth

At the first definite step toward the recurrence of thefts such as the $14,700 mail robbery in the general postoffice last July, Postmaster Morgan was the first to submit to the new order designed to clear the force of men with evil record.

The District Attorney's office will receive one of the most unusual requests of its experience in the next day or two, when it will be asked to institute criminal proceedings against a bake shop for cutting the price of bread to a nickel a loaf.

In support of this there ferns a tale in which Avenue C lone baker, Samuels, and Samuel Untermyer, union secretary and an indignant avowed inextricably in an aroma of buns spread seductively over the entire plot.

The narrative began about two weeks ago, when the two Samuels met face to face in the proceedings of the Lockwood committee. On that occasion Mr. Untermyer, as chief counsel for the committee, brought to the attention of the American Federation of Labor, president, who was on the witness stand, that a number of high bidders were being taken in the ranks of the Jewish Bakers' Union.

Then Competitor Arrives

But a few days ago, shortly after Mr. Gompers stepped down from the witness stand, the business of Mr. Untermyer received a setback. On going to his bakery one morning he discovered that a new tenant had moved into the adjoining store, at 27 Avenue C. There were two big placards in the windows, bearing the following in large, Hebrew lettering:

EAT UNION BREAD
A Loaf 5c A Loaf
EAT UNION BREAD

"The union," said Mr. Frankel, "had become Mr. Schlesinger's neighbor, and it is competing with him there to-day, underselling him by 1 cent a loaf. In order to do this it has to buy bread wholesale at 7 cents, so that it is losing 2 cents on every loaf it sells."

"Of course, the reason is apparent. The union wants to drive Mr. Schlesinger out of business. Its motives are clear. It wants to keep up the price of bread to the public at 9 cents a loaf, so that its members can continue to get $90 a week."

Mr. Frankel said that he had brought the matter to the attention of the Attorney General several days ago, but that Mr. Barton had indicated that he saw no way of proceeding against any one for cutting prices. Yesterday, however, Mr. Frankel and Mr. Untermyer went in consultation, and the latter said to him produced some legal data on the subject of conspiracy, which he felt might apply to the case. These Mr. Frankel will bring to the attention of the District Attorney to-day or tomorrow.

Mr. Barton also announced that the department would at once put into effect an order with reference to the salaries of special clerks and the allotment of money for the districting section, which would make a greater allotment than there is at present for clerks to get into the registry division and remain there. Mr. Barton added:

"At present the inducement for good clerks to remain in the districting section is greater than it is to remain in the non-districting section, which includes the registry division and the money order division. This is in violation of the law, which provides that the salary of a clerk in the districting section should be 75 per cent of it, while the non-districting section got only 25 per cent."

The new order, tending to correct

Daily Radio Program

Tuesday, May 23

WJZ, Newark (360 meters)

10 a. m. to 6 p. m.—Musical program every hour.

11 a. m. noon, 5 p. m. and 10 p. m.—Weather forecast.

12 p. m.—Shipping news.

12:30 p. m.—"Man in the Moon" stories.

1 p. m.—"Heart Conservation" by Dr. E. C. Felt.

1:30 p. m.—"Art in Dress" by Mrs. Picken.

2 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

2:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

3 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

3:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

4 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

4:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

5 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

5:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

6 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

6:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

7 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

7:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

8 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

8:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

9 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

9:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

10 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

10:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

11 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

11:30 p. m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

12 m.—"The Romance of the House of the Future" by Mrs. Picken.

Asks Banton to Prosecute Shop That Sells Bread at 5-Cents

Bakers, Backed by Untermyer, Seek Proceedings Against Store Owned by Union Men to Under-sell Employer Who Defies Them

The District Attorney's office will receive one of the most unusual requests of its experience in the next day or two, when it will be asked to institute criminal proceedings against a bake shop for cutting the price of bread to a nickel a loaf.

In support of this there ferns a tale in which Avenue C lone baker, Samuels, and Samuel Untermyer, union secretary and an indignant avowed inextricably in an aroma of buns spread seductively over the entire plot.

The narrative began about two weeks ago, when the two Samuels met face to face in the proceedings of the Lockwood committee. On that occasion Mr. Untermyer, as chief counsel for the committee, brought to the attention of the American Federation of Labor, president, who was on the witness stand, that a number of high bidders were being taken in the ranks of the Jewish Bakers' Union.

Then Competitor Arrives

But a few days ago, shortly after Mr. Gompers stepped down from the witness stand, the business of Mr. Untermyer received a setback. On going to his bakery one morning he discovered that a new tenant had moved into the adjoining store, at 27 Avenue C. There were two big placards in the windows, bearing the following in large, Hebrew lettering:

EAT UNION BREAD
A Loaf 5c A Loaf
EAT UNION BREAD

"The union," said Mr. Frankel, "had become Mr. Schlesinger's neighbor, and it is competing with him there to-day, underselling him by 1 cent a loaf. In order to do this it has to buy bread wholesale at 7 cents, so that it is losing 2 cents on every loaf it sells."

"Of course, the reason is apparent. The union wants to drive Mr. Schlesinger out of business. Its motives are clear. It wants to keep up the price of bread to the public at 9 cents a loaf, so that its members can continue to get $90 a week."

Mr. Frankel said that he had brought the matter to the attention of the Attorney General several days ago, but that Mr. Barton had indicated that he saw no way of proceeding against any one for cutting prices. Yesterday, however, Mr. Frankel and Mr. Untermyer went in consultation, and the latter said to him produced some legal data on the subject of conspiracy, which he felt might apply to the case. These Mr. Frankel will bring to the attention of the District Attorney to-day or tomorrow.

Union Wields Mailed List

According to Mr. Untermyer, the union members held a mailed list dictating order over their employers, forcing the latter to pay them $90 a week for five and one-half days' work, six and one-half hours a day. Hereafter, Mr. Untermyer went on, gentle bakers got only $10 a week and had to work longer hours for it. All of which, he said, explained why the staff of life cost 9 cents a loaf for Jewish families.

Mr. Gompers said he would look into the matter. But according to Mr. Frankel, secretary of the National Association of the Jewish Baking Industry, he hasn't done so.

This point the scene changes from the Lockwood committee room to the basement at 29 Avenue C. According to Mr. Frankel, Mr. Schlesinger has been the sole occupant of the basement since the year 1910, when he fired his eight union bakers and decided to do all his baking himself.

This condition will give the distributing section 60 per cent and the non-distributing section 40 per cent.

Fingerprinting became a regulation of the local police last October, and since then all new employees, except those who had been fingerprinted and photographed. The old attaches, however, did not come under the regulation, hence the special case of Mr. Barton. There are about 15,000 employees under Postmaster Morgan's jurisdiction. It was through the fingerprinting rule that the forty-nine employees recently discharged were found to have criminal records, and it is with the idea of keeping these men out of the mail service that the order was issued yesterday. The men previously discharged were found to have criminal records, and it is with the idea of keeping these men out of the mail service that the order was issued yesterday.

Present Conduct No Criterion

Mr. Barton believes that no matter what an employee's present conduct may be, if he has committed a theft or other crime before joining the service it is not always safe to instruct him with valuable mails.

Out of the 650 already fingerprinted, Mr. Morgan said 460 had been reclassified, this number including the forty-nine who were dropped from the service.

Mr. Barton, Mr. Morgan, W. Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster General, and William E. Cochran, chief inspector of the New York division of the Postoffice Department, were among the first fingerprinted and photographed yesterday. The work was done by James A. Boyle, postal fingerprint expert, as a start, the system of fingerprinting everybody in the postoffice. Edward S. Post, first assistant postmaster in New York, was absolved from the rule, as he will retire June 1 after twenty-seven years in the service. A man who gave his name as Ruby Gurewitz, twenty-one years old, was taken to the United States Attorney's office yesterday by Inspector Frank Shea and charged with having in his possession on April 15 Liberty bonds that had been stolen from the registered mail. He also was charged with having got possession on April 29 and retained with intent to convert to his own use an official badge of a postoffice inspector. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and held in $10,000 bail for a hearing to-day.

Bedtime Stories

Peter Remains Behind
By Thornton W. Burgess

Watch a Fox, but do not be Filled with faith in what you see.
—Peter Rabbit.

For several days neither Reddy Fox nor Mrs. Reddy was seen from the dear Old Briar-patch. Peter Rabbit grew more and more suspicious. But he didn't say anything about his suspicions; he kept them to himself. Every day the baby Chucks and Polly Chuck went out to the patch of sweet clover while Johnny sat on the doorstep keeping watch. Every night Mrs. Peter took the baby Rabbits over there for a little sweet clover while Peter kept watch. All the time Peter was doing a great deal of thinking.

One afternoon Mrs. Peter took it into her head to take the babies over to the patch of sweet clover. The Chuck family was already over there. Everything seemed perfect. Johnny Chuck was sitting up on guard on his doorstep as usual. Peter went as far as the edge of the Briar-patch and there stopped. It was getting along toward time for jolly round, bright Mr. Sun to go to bed behind the Purple Hills. Peter had a feeling that something was going to happen.

Johnny Chuck began to look very hard off across the Green Meadows. Peter looked in that direction. There was Reddy Fox. He was trotting along and not even looking over toward the Old Briar-patch. He was headed toward the Green Forest. Johnny Chuck gave a little sign of relief. Johnny felt that there was nothing to fear now.

But a sudden thought popped into Peter's head. He occurred to him that Reddy Fox intended to be seen. It was very queer that Reddy had not been near the Old Briar-patch when he knew that there were babies there. It was very queer that he should trot past in plain sight without even a glance that way.

Unnoticed, Peter slipped back into the dear Old Briar-patch and hurried along one of his private little paths that led straight through it to the other side. He did his best not to rustle a leaf. When he reached the other side of the Old Briar-patch he sat up behind a tangle of green bushes and peeped out. At first everything seemed all right. Peter looked this way and looked that way and looked the other way. He saw nothing of which to be afraid.

Two Buried Under 12 Tons of Liquid Concrete; 3 Escape

Workmen at Wanaque, N. J., Dam Standing Thigh Deep in Material When Wooden Form Collapses

WANAQUE, N. J., May 22.—Five workmen were standing thigh deep in semi-liquid concrete when a wooden form into which the concrete was being poured for the Wanaque Dam collapsed to-day. Two were buried under twelve tons of liquid concrete and the others escaped practically unhurt. When the form collapsed the concrete started to pour out in a six-foot stream. Two men were carried over a forty-five-foot drop and buried. The three others managed to scramble to safety.

The dead are P. Durkin, of Haskell, N. J., and Lawrence Biggio, of Brooklyn. Their bodies were recovered shortly after the accident. The concrete bed was soaked by pouring water over it, which caused the material to loosen sufficiently to permit the extrication of the bodies.

A G. Castro, another worker, was carried over the drop but was not buried. His back was slightly injured. The other two men, known as Berry and Dominick, were drawn to safety when they dived from the concrete. He was resumed at Farmingdale. He also declared that on the employees' list the janitor was rated as an instructor and that an elementary school was established at the institute in April, 1921, because the janitor did not care to send his son to Melville School, two miles distant.

On cross-examination Dr. Roberts became confused when counsel for the director produced the printed record of the dean's testimony before a legislative committee in February, 1920. At that time he declared that he had no criticism to make of the director's explanation yesterday that two years ago he was trying to help the director. He also admitted knowing that a new dean is now being sought by the trustees.

Weather Report

Sun rises... 4:33 a.m. (Sun sets... 7:13 p.m.)
Moon rises... 2:52 a.m. (Moon sets... 4:12 p.m.)

Local Forecast.—Fair to-day; to-morrow increasing cloudiness; gentle to moderate variable winds.

Local Official Record.—The following official record shows temperatures during the last twenty-four hours in comparison with the corresponding date of last year.

1922 1921
5 a. m. 68 65 3 p. m. 71 84
8 a. m. 68 65 6 p. m. 68 75
5 a. m. 48 68 6 p. m. 68 75
12 noon 73 77 11 p. m. 64 77

Highest, 75 degrees (at 1 p. m.); lowest, 42 degrees (at 5 a. m.); average, 68 degrees; average same date last year, 74 degrees; average same date for thirty-three years, 61 degrees.

Humidity
5 a. m. 11 1 p. m. 54 8 p. m. 78

Barometer Readings
5 a. m. 30.08 1 p. m. 30.10 8 p. m. 30.09

General Weather Conditions
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Pressure was high to-night from Hudson Bay southward over the Mackenzie and north Atlantic states, from the north Pacific Coast eastward to the Atlantic coast, and off the south coast of the United States. The pressure was lower over the lower Mississippi Valley, the south coast of the United States, and the Gulf of Mexico. The pressure distribution was similar to that of the day before yesterday, but the pressure was lower over the lower Mississippi Valley, the south coast of the United States, and the Gulf of Mexico.

There was little change in temperature over the eastern half of the country. Local thunder showers are probable to-morrow and Wednesday in the middle and lower Ohio Valley and in the upper Ohio Valley and southern Atlantic states and in the upper Ohio Valley and southern Atlantic states. The temperature will be lower to-day in the lower Ohio Valley, the south coast of the United States, and the Gulf of Mexico. The temperature will be lower to-day in the lower Ohio Valley, the south coast of the United States, and the Gulf of Mexico.

Forecast by Districts.—Southern New England and Eastern New York.—Fair to-day and Wednesday; little change in temperature.
Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.—Fair to-day and Wednesday; increasing cloudiness. He knew that she would know that they meant danger.
Western Pennsylvania.—Fair to-day and Wednesday; increasing cloudiness. He knew that she would know that they meant danger.
Middle Pennsylvania.—Fair to-day and Wednesday; increasing cloudiness. He knew that she would know that they meant danger.
Northern Pennsylvania.—Fair to-day and Wednesday; increasing cloudiness. He knew that she would know that they meant danger.
The next storm, "The Disappointment of Mrs. Reddy."

Hylan Foresees City's Victory In N. Y. C. Suit

"Inconceivable That Court of Appeals Will Uphold R. R." Mayor Writes the Corporation Counsel

Points to Similar Case

Emphasizes Importance of Action to Oust Line From Hudson River Waterfront

Mayor Hylan wrote a hopeful letter yesterday to Corporation Counsel O'Brien in advance of the decision of the Court of Appeals in the suit instituted by the city to oust the New York Central Railroad from the Hudson River waterfront, between Seventy-second Street and Spuyten Duyvil. The lower courts decided against the city, but the Mayor declares that "it is inconceivable" that the railroad's theory in the case will be upheld by the Court of Appeals.

"The determination of this action will be of particular interest to the people of the City of New York," said the Mayor, "in view of the amazing contention of the railroad company to support its unwarranted seizure of city property. There are really but two methods recognized in law in securing property rights—purchase and adverse possession. The New York Central, however, has endeavored to adopt a method peculiarly its own. It has set up what has been termed 'advanced estoppel.' This amounts simply to the allegation that they are a railroad and that the City of New York and everybody else is prevented from questioning their right to the possession of portions of the Hudson River waterfront, no matter how acquired."

"It is inconceivable that such a theory will be upheld by the Court of Appeals. If it were, the railroad company might proceed to cut through City Hall Park or any other section of the city and remain there in defiance of the rights of the people. We shall soon learn whether the railroads are going to rule or the people run the city, and especially whether the New York Central or any other railroad has the power to lay tracks on any property which suits its purpose, and then prevent the rightful owner from claiming such property on the ground of 'advanced estoppel.'"

"I am led to anticipate a favorable decision in this New York Central matter from the success which has recently attended your efforts in the Appellate Division, Third Department, arising out of the contest over the award for the taking of Fort Tilden. This, as well as 100 acres more of Rockaway Point, is claimed by the Southern Pacific with as little right as the Hudson River waterfront. A thorough appreciation by the Albany courts of the justice of the city's contention in the Fort Tilden contest leads me to hope for an equally fair decision in the New York Central matter."

Janitor at Farm School Rated as an Instructor

Roberts Testifies Directors' Pool Table Was Repaired From Contingent Fund

Testimony that the contingent fund for the State Institute of Applied Agriculture is being used to pay for teachers' salaries, and for the director's pool table and repairing dormitories was given by Dean Alan Roberts yesterday, when the investigation into the conduct of the school was resumed at Farmingdale. He also declared that on the employees' list the janitor was rated as an instructor and that an elementary school was established at the institute in April, 1921, because the janitor did not care to send his son to Melville School, two miles distant.

On cross-examination Dr. Roberts became confused when counsel for the director produced the printed record of the dean's testimony before a legislative committee in February, 1920. At that time he declared that he had no criticism to make of the director's explanation yesterday that two years ago he was trying to help the director. He also admitted knowing that a new dean is now being sought by the trustees.

In the afternoon several members of the faculty and four students testified that they had no criticism to make of the director and commented favorably on the discipline at the institute.

Flurry in Linens

PURE linens

18c yard—for 28c Toweling, 16 inches wide

3,000 yards; suitable for tea or roller towels.

$6 dozen—for $8.40 dozen Huck Towels

74 dozen only; 17x32 in.; hemmed ends; space for monogram.

$7.80 dozen—for $10.80 dozen Huck Towels

64 dozen; 19x36 in.; hemmed ends; key border. Extra heavy.

$2.50 dozen—for $4.20 dozen Huck Towels

76 dozen; 14x20 in.; hemmed ends; space for monogram.

$10.50 pair—for $15 Linen Bed Sheets

Hemstitched; 72x96 in.; 150 pairs.

$2.50 pair—for $3.50 Linen Pillow Cases

Hemstitched; 22 1/2 x 36 inches. 200 pairs.

First floor, Old Building.

Today's Radiophone Program

(WJZ, Wavelength 360 metres)

1:40—Brief Victrola Recital of special release records.

2:40—Program by the Hackel-Berge Instrumental Trio.

3:40—Brief Song Recital by Edna Beatrice Bloom, Soprano.

4:40—Timely Hints—"Fashion and Pleasures of New York," from Vanity Fair Magazine; also, "The Use of Mirrors and Decoration," suggestions by House and Garden Magazine, by courtesy of the Nast Publication.

10:30 P. M.—Program by the Carlowe Male Quartet: Ralph Pemberton, Robert Parker, Robert Mahn, Allyn Wright, Mary Edson, Contralto; Caroline Lowe Hovey, Accompanist and Director.

FUR STORAGE

Vaults on the premises Absolute protection

A Tampa Newspaper

has an editorial on the mongoose, stating that a few years ago this little animal was brought into Jamaica to kill the snakes. When the invaders finished with the snakes they devoured ground-nesting birds and ate up their eggs.

Because of bird scarcity, insects multiplied, to the discomfort of human inhabitants, and they had to banish the mongoose.

The English sparrow has taught us wisdom. Let us look out not to be disturbed by any class of foreign importations.

(Signed)

John Wanaumaker

May 23, 1922.

Piano Recital by Ann Thompson

Today, at 2:30, in the Auditorium.

First Gallery, New Building.

BELMAISON

Reproduction Furniture

Louis XV. Walnut Furniture

For a formal dining-room

The fine lines of a Louis XV. dining-room set have been reproduced by BELMAISON in dark polished walnut.

It includes one sideboard, eight chairs—two with arms—and a beautifully proportioned table large enough to seat eight people comfortably, and which may be extended.

The chairs have backs and seats of dark cane, the color of the wood.

$1,600 the price of the complete set. Pieces may be purchased individually.

Fourth Gallery, New Building.

Knitted Fashions of fibre silk--- Third to Half Less

Frocks, Capes, Slip-ons, Short Jackets, Two and Three-piece Suits

$12.75 to $69.50

($12.75 for a slip-on, to $69.50 for 2 or 3 piece suits)

Models sold in sets or separately

Second floor, Old Building.

The Bride's Piano

Custom has established the Grand Piano as the piano of almost universal preference as a wedding gift. Given her choice, every bride would take a Grand Piano. And why not? It is beautiful to look at. It holds the sweetest music possible to pianoforte tones.

In the Wanaumaker Piano Salons—the New York home of the CHICKERING—these Grand Pianos await the bride—

CHICKERING Grand Pianos....$1,225 to $1,675

SCHOMACKER Grand Pianos....$1,150 to $1,250

MARSHALL & WENDELL Grand Pianos...$860

BRAMBACH Grand Pianos.....$635 to $730

And the celebrated KNABE Grand Pianos...$1,225 to $1,475

And 20 Lindeman & Sons Grand Pianos

--the $800 grade--specially priced $545

The Lindeman piano is the oldest but one of American pianos (the oldest is the CHICKERING). These pianos were made from the original scales perfected by William Lindeman, who founded the Lindeman piano business in 1836. These 20 pianos are being sold at a reduced price because of a reorganization of the factory.

Plenty of time to pay for these—or for any piano purchased in the Wanaumaker Salons.

First Gallery, New Building.

John Wanaumaker

Formerly A. T. Stewart

A U Q U A T R I E M E

Among the many fine pieces of Eighteenth Century Painted Venetian Furniture —whose prices have been greatly lowered—

is this bureau-secretaire in yellow lacquer, with applied designs of ships, landscapes and figures. The upper half has two mirror doors which are surmounted by a finely carved and gilded cornice. Frame, feet and mouldings are gilded. Block front drawers with original brasses. Height over all, 8 ft.; width, 3 ft. 10 in.; depth, 1 ft. 3 in., now only $1,750.

The total selling prices of this entire collection are now $27,568 as compared with the former prices amounting to $50,984—an average lowering of very nearly half.

In the fine room, Au Quatrieme, where they are all grouped, one feels the Venetian atmosphere. In and out and round about this fine furniture "of pleasing curves and unsurpassable colours" one might almost fancy one sees again, walking, as in the great rooms of their Eighteenth Century Venetian houses, "smart young men with their hair tied in queues and their pockets crammed full of sonnets, and beautiful ladies with rouged cheeks and long-sleeved brocade dresses," smelling faintly of amber and fluttering their fans.

Other Important Pieces and Their New Prices

A second very fine bureau secretaire with cream ground and applied decoration. Gilded mouldings, two solid doors to upper part. $450.

Fine old red Louis XV. red lacquer table, $175.

Fine pair of red lacquer chairs, $150 the pair.

Low small painted Venetian arm chair with rush seat. $65.

Fine pair of large corner cabinets in applied design, now only $500.

A quaint old prie-dieu in old original pale yellow paint. $50.

Fourth Floor, Old Building.

The new Sports Shop for Women offers, Tuesday,

Knitted Fashions of fibre silk--- Third to Half Less

Frocks, Capes, Slip-ons, Short Jackets, Two and Three-piece Suits

$12.75 to $69.50

($12.75 for a slip-on, to $69.50 for 2 or 3 piece suits)

Models sold in sets or separately

Second floor, Old Building.

Flurry in Linens

PURE linens

18c yard—for 28c Toweling, 16 inches wide

3,000 yards; suitable for tea or roller towels.

$6 dozen—for $8.40 dozen Huck Towels

74 dozen only; 17x32 in.; hemmed ends; space for monogram.

$7.80 dozen—for $10.80 dozen Huck Towels